

Fourth of July

Lives there a man with soul so dead that he is not quickened with patriotism at the approach of the Nation's Holiday?

It will be a busy, banging, booming Birthday and every Man and every Boy will be expected to lend a hand.

Have you got all your fixings? Your Hot Weather Suit? Your Outing Trousers? Your Hat or Cap? Your small wear?

There's sure to be something you'll want for the Day we all Celebrate, and you know you can get it best here.

Don't wait until the last moment. Come while the picking is good, and you can find what you want.

We'll be closed one-half day on the Fourth.

OPEN DAY AND NIGHT

CORBELL & SUNTAAG, Proprietors

ALBUQUERQUE'S GREAT CASINO

Gave Initial Entertainment Saturday Night to Great Audience.

ENTERPRISE COMPLETE SUCCESS

The Casino was opened Saturday night with the largest attendance ever known in Albuquerque, upon any public occasion.

The day had been warm, the evening was cool, the enterprise was what Albuquerque had never known, the whole town was out on the quiver to see what a summer theatre was, and who would be there.

The Casino, itself, erected by the Casino Amusement company, was designed by Architect La Roche. It is a Swiss cottage, 68x135 feet in dimensions. A broad, but low flight of steps leads to a front platform. At the left end of the platform is the entrance to the bar. Directly in front is the entrance to the auditorium, having upon its right the ticket office, and the entrance to the rooms where refreshments are prepared.

The auditorium will set 800 people, being 48x60 feet, comfortably seated with chairs. On either side of the auditorium, and raised a couple of feet, is a palm garden, each garden being 10x80 feet, and supplied with sixteen tables, with easy-chairs, and accommodating 200 people in the two. These are the reserve seats for which you buy a ticket, and get the number of your table.

The stage is 55x35 feet, and lavishly supplied with the latest in the way of scenery, which all rolls up, instead of being moved backward and forward. On each side of the stage are dressing and toilet rooms for the performers.

The Wade Opera and Vaudeville company, always favorites in Albuquerque, now occupy the boards. There are fourteen people in the company and each one is a star. The orchestra is under the charge of Prof. Perle, musical director. Among the members are Prof. Di Mauro, violinist, and Lawrence Powers, pianist.

It is a perfect treat to sit in the palm garden, protected by screens from every form of insect yet enjoying every breeze that blows, listening to pleasing music or amusing acting, sipping the good things of life, as brought by attentive and willing waiters.

The refreshment department is conducted by the Albuquerque catering company, of which Ernest Meyers is president. This assures that everything offered will be of the best quality.

There are more than twenty employees of the place, among whom The Citizen saw Ed. Picard, general manager; J. Fred Fletcher, manager of refreshment department; Capt. Geo. M. Cundiff in charge of the bar, assisted by Al McDowell, Mrs. E. Van Druff and Mrs. Chas. Shirk in the refreshment parlors; Thos. Lane in charge of fourteen waiters in uniform; Raymond Stamm in the ticket office and Capt. Kass to accept the tickets at the door.

Albuquerque can congratulate herself on having the pleasantest and most attractive place of amusement in the southwest, and certainly should feel great gratitude to the Traction company, especially Colonels Greer and Sellers, for supplying so pleasing a place of resort. The management asserts that it shall be maintained as a place to which women and children may go with or without escort, without fear of insult or contamination.

Address of O. N. Marron.

Mr. Marron first stated that the occasion was an event in the history and upbuilding of Albuquerque, and spoke of the beautiful Casino, and magnificent appointments, and in that connection, as a proof of the truth of what Editor Hearst characterized our city, namely: "Albuquerque is the greatest, biggest and best little city I have ever seen in all my travels." He remarked that this tribute to Albuquerque was paid even before Colonel Greer and Colonel Sellers came with all of their enthusiasm and enterprise and energy, and gave to the city the traction company, the Casino company, and the allied institutions. The speaker ventured the assertion that were Mr. Hearst here today he would become an Albuquerquean and buy himself a lot in Luna place and buy himself a comfortable home, and like the rest of the Albuquerqueans, praise the Lord for having been so good to him as to permit him to live here. In the course of his remarks he stated that the people were so enthused at the present time that the population of Albuquerque would reach 35,000 in 1910. He then in glowing terms, paid a high tribute to the Hon. J. W. Jastro and his associates, for the energy and enterprise that have been displayed by them since their coming to Albuquerque and becoming interested with us in her future and her development.

The speaker stated, furthermore, that the character of these individuals was a sufficient guarantee to all the people that the amusements and everything pertaining to the Casino would be of the highest and very best character, and that it would be a place that all of our citizens could attend and gain respite from the troubles and cares of everyday life, and that no one would have a regret for having come, and immediately then, he wished Godspeed to the strangers, and on behalf of the management formally dedicated the building.

John S. Meeks, who visited his parents at Holder, Indian Territory, has returned to the city, and today announced that he was glad to get back. He says he attended a picnic near Holder, in company with several so-called young ladies, but the weather was so torrid that most of his time was employed in mopping perspiration from his brow. He informed his folks at Holder that Albuquerque was the home of the American Lumber company and that the big plant could not continue business until his return, hence he did not remain at home as long as wished. He was pleased, however, with his visit and found his folks enjoying good health.

Johnny Booth, for many years in the hack business at Las Vegas, and subsequently in the same business here, but who nearly two years ago sold out to Pat McAuliffe and since then engaged in a tour of the country by buckboard, has returned to the city and will re-engage in business here.

FROM THE YALE EIGHT.

GREAT OARSMAN DROPPED

CORNELIUS E. DALY.

The great Yale oarsman, who was dropped from the 'Varsity eight for cribbing during the examinations held at Gales Ferry. The removal of Daly just before the race with Harvard was a blow to the eight, and necessitated breaking up the Yale four-oared crew, to find a substitute for Daly. The statement of the athlete, issued after being dropped, was that the occurrence was a "terrible mistake," and that he had no intention of cribbing, and that there was no necessity for doing so.
